FORGERY AND COUNTERFEITING THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT NATIVE TITLE DOCUMENTS

In the NATIVE MAGISTRATE KINGS BENCH COURT HEARING Saturday 24 September 2022

PM Jacinda Kate Laurell Ardern & Governor General Cindy Acylon Kiro Charged with FRAUD

Under the

Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981

23 March 2022 updated 23 March 2022|Legal Guidance, Fraud and economic crimeThe Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 creates the following commonly used offences:

- Section 1 Forgery making a false instrument.
- Section 2 Copying a false instrument.
- Section 3 Using a false instrument.
- Section 4 Using a copy of a false instrument.
- Section 5 Custody or control of false instruments (purporting to be money orders, share certificates, passports, traveller's cheques, credit cards, debit cards, credit cards, birth etc. certificates, etc.) and manufacture, custody, or control of equipment or materials to make them.

In addition to the above, other offences are also created within the Act.

- Section 14 offences concerning counterfeiting notes and coins.
- Section 15 offences of passing counterfeit notes and coins.
- Section 16 offences involving the custody or control of counterfeit notes and coins.
- Section 17 offences involving the making or custody or control of counterfeiting materials and implements.
- Section 20 the prohibition of importation of counterfeit notes and coins.
- Section 21 the prohibition of exportation of counterfeit notes and coins.

Definitions

False instrument

Section 1 Forgery Act 1981 states:

A person is guilty of forgery if he makes a false instrument, with the intention that he or another shall use it to induce somebody to accept it as genuine, and by reason of so accepting it to do or not to do some act to his own or any other person's prejudice."

It must be shown that D intended for the false instrument it be used to induce somebody to accept it as genuine and, by reason of so accepting it, to do or not to do some act to his own or another's prejudice: R. v. Mary Sylvia Campbell (1985) 80 Cr.App.R. 47, CA.

An intention to induce another to accept a copy of a forgery will also suffices: R v Ondhia (1998) 2 Cr.App.R 150 CA

"Instrument" - the definition for instrument is found at section 8 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981

Instrument includes any document, postage stamp (or mark denoting payment), Inland Revenue stamp, disk tape, sound track or other device on which information is stored by any means. It does not include a currency note (see offences under sections 14, 16, 17, 20 and 21 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981).

"False"

False is defined at section 9 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981. Section 9(1)(a) - (g) sets out 8 exhaustive scenarios in which an instrument is false for the purposes of the FCA 1981.

Whether an instrument falls within any of these scenarios will be fact specific and potentially complex. An instrument that contains within it a false statement will not necessarily render the instrument itself a forgery. A lie is a false statement, but documents containing lies or false statements are not always regarded as false instruments. A false instrument is one that "purports" to be something which is not - i.e. it must tell a lie about itself (see the decision by the House of Lords in R v More [1988] 86 Crim App R 234).

Falsity as to Circumstance (s.9(1)(g)

Difficulties have arisen with conflicting decisions by the Court of Appeal on the ambit of Section 9(1)(g) FCA 1981 and an instrument that tells a lie about its subject-matter or relevant factual circumstances. Section 9(1)(g) states that an instrument is false:

if it purports to have been made or altered on a date on which, or at a place at which, or otherwise in circumstances in which, it was not in fact made or altered

In R v Donnelly (1984) 79 Cr. App. R. 76 the Court took a broad approach to s.9(1)(g). It was held that the words "otherwise in circumstances..." expanded the ambit of that paragraph to any case in which an instrument purports to made when it was not, in fact, made. Therefore, a certificate that purported to value jewellery that did not actually exist was false within the meaning of section 9(1)(g) because it purported to have been made in circumstances that did not, in fact, exist. Donnelly was applied in R v Jeraj [1994] Crim L. R. 595 where a bank officer wrote a note in which he said he had received and endorsed a letter of credit. In fact, he had seen no such letter.

However, in R v Warneford and Gibbs [1994] Crim L R 753 the Court was not referred to Jeraj and took the view that Donnelly had been wrongly decided.

The conflict was apparently resolved in Att.-Gen.'s Reference (No. 1 of 2000) [2001] 1 Cr. App. R. 15 in which the Court of Appeal reviewed the relevant authorities and held that Donnelly and Jeraj remained good law but their application should be restricted to where there are circumstances that need to exist before the document can be properly made or altered and those circumstances are absent. The Court stated (at paragraph 26):

"...an instrument will be false for the purposes of Section 9(1)(g) if it is a document which requires, before it can be made or altered that there should exist or should have existed a set of circumstances and those circumstances do not or did not exist."

"Making"

Section 9(2) FCA 1981 captures situations where an existing instrument is falsified and specifies that a person is to be treated as "making" a false instrument if they alter an instrument so as to make it false in any respect (whether or not it is false in some other respect apart from that alteration).

"Prejudice and Induce"

Prejudice and induce are defined in Section 10 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 as:

Something which results in temporary or permanent loss of property, deprives another of the opportunity to obtain remuneration or greater remuneration or financial advantage or the opportunity to perform any duty.

Jurisdiction

Offences under sections 1 to 5 of the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981, are Group A offences and we can prosecute if a "relevant event" occurred in England or Wales - see Criminal Justice Act 1993 Part 1.

This applies whether or not the defendant was in England or Wales at any material time, and whether or not they were a British citizen at any such time. Conspiracies relating to these offences are Group B offences.

Counterfeiting

Section 14 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 states:-

- (1) It is an offence for a person to make a counterfeit of a currency note or of a protected coin, intending that they or another shall pass or tender it as genuine.
- (2) It is an offence for a person to make a counterfeit of a currency note or of a protected coin without lawful authority or excuse

Section 15 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 likewise makes it an offence to knowingly or believing it to be counterfeit (1) pass or tender it as genuine or (2) deliver to another such a counterfeit note or protected coin.

Section 16 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 further makes it an offence to (1) have custody or control of such a counterfeit note or protected coin intending to pass or tender it as genuine or (2) have possession of the same.

Section 17 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 makes it an offence to (1) have custody or control of anything intending to or allowing any person to use it to make a counterfeit of a currency note or protected coin, intending to pass it as genuine or (2) make or have anything designed or adapted to make a counterfeit of a currency note or (3) make or have any implement to his knowledge capable of imparting to anything the resemblance of a protected coin or its reversed image.

Section 18 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 makes it an offence to reproduce a British currency note or part of one.

Section 19 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 makes it an offence to make or sell or distribute or have custody or control of imitation British coins within a scheme for goods and services.

Section 20 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 prohibits the importation of a counterfeit note or protected coin.

Section 21 Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 prohibits the exportation of a counterfeit note or protected coin.

"Passing" or "tendering" is not confined to passing or tendering as legal tender: section 14(3) Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981.

Counterfeits - defence

Section 17 (3) it is a defence within the Act if the written permission of the Treasury or other lawful authority has been obtained or there is a lawful excuse.

Section 18 it is a defence within the Act if the written permission of the relevant issuing authority has been obtained.

Sections 19, 20 and 21 it is a defence within the Act if the written permission of the Treasury has been obtained

Sentence

Offences under sections 1 - 4 and section 5(1) and 5(3) Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 are either way maximum 10 years' imprisonment or fine or both.

Section 5(2) Forgery Act 1981 either way maximum two years' imprisonment or fine or both.

- Road Traffic Documents and Licenses section 173 Road Traffic Act 1973 and section 44 Vehicle Excise and Registration Act 1994.

Identity Cards Act 2006

Section 25 of the Identity Cards Act 2006, in force from 7 June 2006 and was repealed on 21 January 2011. For offences after the 2006 Act, see the Identity Documents Act 2010.

Offences under the Identity Cards Act 2006

Section 25(1) - creates an offence for a person intending to use a document to establish registrable facts about themselves or to allow or induce another to establish/ ascertain/ verify registrable facts about him or another (s 25(2)), to have in his possession or control:-

- a false identity document, knowing or believing it is false or;
- an improperly obtained identity document knowing or believing it to be so obtained or;
- an identity document belonging to someone else.

Section 25(3) creates an offence for a person intending that they or another will make identity documents or somebody will use the document for establishing etc. registrable facts about a person (s 25(4)), to have in his possession or control:-

 Apparatus or any article or material to his knowledge designed or adapted for making false documents.

Section 25(5) creates an offence for a person to possess or control without reasonable excuse; A false identity document, an improperly obtained identity document, some else's identity document, or any apparatus, article or material to his knowledge designed or adapted for making false identity documents.

Section 26 defines an identity document and includes;

- A driving license

Sections 25(1) and (3) indictable only 10 years' maximum imprisonment or fine or both

Section 25(5) either way, maximum two years' imprisonment or fine or both.

Identity Documents Act 2010

The Identity Documents Act came into force on 21 January 2011 and repealed sections 25 and 26 of the Identity Cards Act 2006.

The principal amendment is the reference to the narrower defined "personal information" rather than "registrable facts".

The IDA 2010 provisions are largely the same as the ICA 2006 Act.

Possession with intent, 2010 Act.

Section 4(1) - replaces s.25(1) of the Identity Cards Act 2006. It creates an offence for a person with an improper intent to be in possession or control of an identity document which (a) is false and they know or believe to be false or (b) was improperly obtained knowing or believing the same or (c) an identity document that relates to someone else.

"Improper intent" is defined at section 4(2) as intending to establish personal information about himself or intending to allow or induce another to use it to verify personal information about himself or another.

Section 5(1) replaces s.25 (3) of the Identity Card Act 2010. It creates an offence for a person with prohibited intent to make or possess or control, apparatus or any article or material to his knowledge designed or adapted for making false identity documents.

"Prohibited intention" is defined at section 5(2) as an intention that they or another will make a false identity document or that the document will be used by somebody to establish/ ascertain/ verify personal information about a person.

Ss. 4(1) and 5(1) indictable only 10 years' maximum imprisonment or fine or both.

Section 6(1) replaces s.25(5) of the Identity Card Act 2010 and creates an offence for a person without reasonable excuse to have in his possession or control:-

a false identity document

- an improperly obtained identity document
- someone else's identity document
- apparatus or any article or material to his knowledge designed or adapted for making false identity documents.

Section 6(1) either way, maximum two years' imprisonment or fine or both.

"Apparatus" is defined in section 9 of the Act.

"Identity document" defined at section 7 Identity Documents Act 2010 and includes

- An immigration document
- A passport
- A document in use instead of a passport
- A driving license

"Personal information" is defined at section 8 Identity Documents Act 2010 to be an individual's:-

PAKEHA(EUROPEAN)/MAORI TRANSLITERATIONS -as at 16 July 2022

DISCLAIMER:- I am by no means an authority on Maori names. This list was developed tohelp fellow genealogists with indexing. Some Maori appear in indexes under their Maori name and then in other indexes under their European or Pakeha version or a combination of both. Names have been collected from official NZ Government sources, books, (including The Bible), headstones, death notices and from the families concerned.

I am aware that some names have both a pre-contact meaning and a transliteration usage. As an example - Matiu was a female name pre-contact but is more commonly known as the transliteration for Matthew. Some of these spellings came from early Catholic records where the priests not only used the Church Latin forms of names but also the phonetic spelling of Māori names [Thanks Diane]. The spellings are meant as a guide only.

If you can add any further names to this list I would be most pleased to hear from you at cmclementnz at gmail.com.

Thanks to all those who have emailed me with names from their own research, they have been of great help.

The - MAORI INTEREST GROUP - of the NZ Society of Genealogists has a great deal of information to help research Maori ancestry.Linked.

As this is a long list you may find it easier to use Ctrl-F to find the name your are looking for.
