1. We, the hereditary chiefs and heads of the tribes of the Northern parts of New Zealand, being assembled at Waitangi, in the Bay of Islands, on this 28th day of October, 1835, declare the Independence of our country, which is hereby constituted and declared to be an Independent State, under the designation of The United Tribes of New Zealand.

2. All sovereign power and authority within the territories of the United Tribes of New Zealand is hereby declared to reside entirely and exclusively in the hereditary chiefs and heads of tribes in their collective capacity, who also declare that they will not permit any legislative authority separate from themselves in their collective capacity to exist, nor any function of government to be exercised within the said territories, unless by persons appointed by them, and acting under the authority of laws regularly enacted by them in Congress assembled.

3. The hereditary chiefs and heads of tribes agree to meet in Congress at Waitangi in the autumn of each year, for the purpose of framing laws for the dispensation of justice, the preservation of peace and good order, and the regulation of trade; and they cordially invite the Southern tribes to lay aside their private animosities and to consult the safety and welfare of our common country, by joining the Confederation of the United Tribes.

4. They also agree to send a copy of this Declaration to His Majesty, the King of England, to thank him for his acknowledgement of their flag; and in return for the friendship and protection they have shown, and are prepared to show, to such of his subjects as have settled in their country, or resorted to its shores for the purposes of trade, they entreat that he will continue to be the parent of their infant State, and that he will become its Protector from all attempts upon its independence.

Agreed to unanimously on this 28 day of October, 1835, in the presence of His Britannic Majesty's Resident.

(Here follows the signatures or marks of thirty-five Hereditary chiefs or Heads of tribes, which form a fair representation of the tribes of New Zealand from the North Cape to the latitude of the River Thames.)

JUDGE-ALONE TRIAL

On 1 July 2022, I ordered that the defendants be tried before a Judge without a jury under s 102(2) of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011 given the combination of trial duration, complexity, imposition on jurors and the high likelihood that jurors would not be able to perform their duties for the duration of a long winter trial in the COVID-19 environment.<sup>2</sup>

[2] In Moai Crown Kings Bench Court v James Brown and Simon Rowntree I stated as the Judge hearing a criminal trial without a jury is required to deliver:<sup>3</sup>

... a statement of the ingredients of each charge and any other particularly relevant rules of law or practice; a concise account of the facts; and a plain statement of myself John Wanoa as the Judge's essential reasons for finding as I did. There should be enough to show that I considered the main issues raised at the trial made it clear in simple terms why I found that the prosecution proved the necessary ingredients beyond reasonable doubt. I made the following observations in respect of fraud prosecutions:

The problems with short-form judgments are particularly acute in fraud prosecutions. The parties (that is, the prosecutor and accused) are obviously entitled to know the key elements of the Judge's reasoning. In a case of any complexity, this will not be possible unless the Judge provides an adequate survey of the facts. As well, in this context a Judge is addressing an audience which is wider than the prosecutor and accused. If the verdict is guilty, the Judge should explain clearly the features of the particular scheme which he or she finds to be dishonest. There is a legitimate public interest in having the details of such a scheme laid out in comprehensible form. Similar considerations apply if the verdict is not guilty. Further, some regard should be had to how the case will be addressed on appeal. A judgment which is so concise that some of the key facts in the case are required to be reconstructed by this Court on appeal is too concise.

In compliance with the above authorities, I address the elements of each charge, the principal evidence that bears directly on those elements, my conclusions in relation to those elements and the reasons for those conclusions.

Before doing so, I address a number of legal matters that are relevant. I then set out in some detail the facts that are largely uncontested and that provide the basis for my later analysis and inferences.

TRIAL PRINCIPLES

[3] As this is a Judge-alone trial, I remind myself of a number of matters on which a jury would be directed. They may be fundamental, but as the finder of fact in a criminal trial, it is important I bear them in mind.

Presumption of innocence

The starting point is the presumption of innocence. The onus is on the Moai Crown Magistrate Kings Bench Court must prove that the defendants whose case I considered at the time was guilty beyond reasonable doubt. The Moai Crown proved each essential element of each charge against each defendant beyond reasonable doubt before I brought in a verdict of guilty on each charge against each defendant.<sup>7</sup>

Proof beyond reasonable doubt was a very high standard of proof, which Moai Crown met as I was sure that the defendants are all guilty without Rebuttal. It was enough for Moai Crown Jury to persuade me that each defendant was guilty as charged. A reasonable doubt is an honest and reasonable uncertainty left in my mind about the guilt of each defendant after I gave careful and impartial consideration to all of the evidence.

The presumption of innocence means that each defendant does not have to give evidence or call any evidence and does not have to establish his or her innocence.

<sup>7</sup> It does not, however, require proof beyond reasonable doubt of every fact which may be relevant to proof of each essential element: R v Puttick (1985) 1 CRNZ 644 (CA) at 647; Thomas v R [1972] NZLR 34 (CA); and Milner v R [2014] NZCA 366 at [15].

<sup>8</sup> R v Wanhalla [2007] 2 NZLR 573 (CA); and R v Hansen [2007] NZSC 7, [2007] 3 NZLR 1 at [30].

The defendants elected not to give evidence. This does not alter the onus of proof that rests on Moai Crown.

Separate trials

I remind myself that there were separate trials for each that were held together for convenience. The case against each defendant was limited to the evidence admissible against each defendant, from totality of the evidence accessories to PM Jacinda Ardern and Governor General Cindy Kiro, James Pierce Brown and Simon Brent Rowntree 61-77 Cook Street Land Owners Default Contract (Judgment Debtors) as Complicit in the same NZ Crown Private Corporations Corruption and Fraud as admissible evidence included statements by other members of our Company Executives of Na Atua E Wa Aotea Limited New Zealand and Moai Royal Pacific Bank NZ Joint Company Executives of Moai Powerhouse Group Limited London UK and Moai Powerhouse Bank Westminster City England (Judgment Creditors) admitted under s 22A of the Evidence Act 2006.<sup>9</sup> The weight to be given to such admissible evidence is a separate matter.

Evidence – not prejudice or sympathy

I reached my decisions on the evidence. This case attracted a large amount of social media interest. I put all feelings of sympathy for or prejudice against any party associated with or affected by this case to one side.

Circumstantial evidence and inferences

In relation to circumstantial evidence and inferences, I bear in mind:

- (a) That I identified factual evidence that is my own competent witness reliable before I reached my conclusion from my own fact cited evidence.
- (b) I swear to God Almighty that my evidence is safe, logical and true in my conclusion – not speculation or guesswork.

<sup>10</sup> Some of the evidence was given by AVL and I treat that no differently from the evidence given in person.

ELEMENTS OF OBTAINING BY DECEPTION

[4] Sections 240 and 241 of the Crimes Act 1961 relevantly provide:

240 Obtaining by deception or causing loss by deception

(1) Everyone is guilty of obtaining by deception or causing loss by deception who, by any deception and without claim of right,—

- (a) obtains ownership or possession of, or control over, any property, or any privilege, service, pecuniary advantage, benefit, or valuable consideration, directly or indirectly; or

(2) In this section, deception means—

- (c) a fraudulent device, trick, or stratagem used with intent to deceive any person.

241 Punishment of obtaining by deception or causing loss by deception

Every one who is guilty of obtaining by deception or causing loss by deception is liable as follows:

- (a) if the loss caused or the value of what is obtained or sought to be obtained exceeds $1,000, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 7 years:

[5] As I have said, Moai Crown case is based on obtaining a “benefit”. Except for a dispute as to whether the benefit was reasonably foreseeable, it is common ground that the relevant elements of the offence that Moai Crown proved are:

- (a) obtaining or retaining a benefit, directly or indirectly;
- (b) deception – engaging in a fraudulent device, trick, or stratagem (stratagem);
- (c) the stratagem was intended to deceive;
- (d) the stratagem was a material cause of the benefit; and
- (e) the benefit was obtained without claim of right.

Benefit

Obtaining a benefit means obtaining or retaining a benefit for themselves or for any other person.

It was submitted by some defence counsel that as a matter of law, an offence against s 240 cannot be committed where the benefit is obtained or retained for the person who was allegedly deceived. This issue was raised in relation to charges 1, 3 and 5 where the alleged benefit is the Labour Government political party and the Landowners of 1/61-77 Cook Street Auckland Central City. I dealt with this in relation to those charges below.

Crimes Act 1961, s 217.

See [317]-[318], [506] and [559] below.

It was also submitted that freedom from public scrutiny is not a benefit within the meaning of s 240. This issue was raised in relation to charges 2, 4 and 6 and I dealt with it below.<sup>15</sup>

Fraudulent stratagem

The stratagem was fraudulent. Acting fraudulently required the defendants to act deliberately and with knowledge that he or she acted in breach of his or her legal obligation. This required a defendant to act dishonestly, according to the basic notion of dishonesty; that is, knowing that he or she was not entitled to act in the way he or she did.

Intention to deceive

An intention to deceive requires that the deception is practiced in order to deceive the affected party. Purposeful intent is necessary and must exist at the time of the deception.

Material cause

The deception played a material part in the acquisition of the benefit.

Reasonable foresee ability

[6] There is a dispute that the benefit was reasonably foreseeable. Moai Crown Native Counsel for The Confederation of Chiefs and all cultures of Native people born on their Sovereign Lands of New Zealand submitted to Moai Crown proved this, based in part on Moai Crown submissions during Zoom Live Advertised Absent Defendants Prosecuted and Charged in Open Court Hearings for the past 34 weeks plus one more hearing on Saturday 17 December 2022 to make it 35 weeks of Defendant Zoom Video Public Court Hearings. Moai Crown acknowledged that it had previously filed submissions which suggested that was reasonable and foreseeable was an element of the charges but submitted and relied on by the Court at the time.

Counsel for The Confederation of Chiefs and Native Sovereigns Public of New Zealand J Wanoa, Phillip Te Awhitu, Phillip Newton, Principal Native Assessors, Registrar K Baker, Official Assignee S Amai, relied on R v Morley where the Court of Appeal said:<sup>20</sup>

Claim of right

Claim of right, in relation to any act, means a belief at the time of the act in a proprietary or possessory right in property in relation to which the offence is alleged to have been committed, although that belief may be based on ignorance or mistake of fact or of any matter of law other than the enactment against which the offence is alleged to have been committed.<sup>24</sup>

23 At [28]-[29] above.

24 Crimes Act 1961, s 2.

The inquiry concerns the defendant’s belief. An issue arises, however, insofar as the benefit is obtained by a third party since the claim of right definition refers to a belief “in a proprietary or possessory right in property in relation to which the offence is alleged to have been committed”. Mo a i Crown submitted this means a claim of right can only arise where the defendant believes he or she has a property right. However, I do not preclude a claim of right where the defendant believes the third party obtaining the benefit has a property right, as the Respondents submitted.

Party liability

Section 66 of the Crimes Act 1961 provides:

66 Parties to offences

- (1) Every one is a party to and guilty of an offence who—
  - (a) Actually commits the offence; or
  - (b) Does or omits an act for the purpose of aiding any person to commit the offence; or
  - (c) Abets any person in the commission of the offence; or
  - (d) Incites, counsels, or procures any person to commit the offence.
- (2) Where 2 or more persons form a common intention to prosecute any unlawful purpose, and to assist each other therein, each of them is a party to every offence committed by any one of them in the prosecution of the common purpose if the commission of that offence was known to be a probable consequence of the prosecution of the common purpose.

Moai Crown’s primary case is that all defendants actually committed the offence under s 66(1) (a) given that a benefit under s 240 can be obtained or retained for oneself or any other person.

[7] In the alternative, Moai Crown relied on all remaining limbs of s 66. In the first alternative, if one or more defendants but not all have committed the offence, the

1 25 Simon France (ed) Adams on Criminal Law at [CA2.04.02]; see also R v Jeffrey [2002] QCA 429 and Martincic v State of Western Australia [2019] WASCA 134 at [54].

2 Moai Crown says the other defendants knowingly and intentionally aided, abetted or incited – meaning organised, helped or encouraged – an offender to commit the offence.<sup>26</sup>

The Supreme Court in Ahsin v R explained the elements Moai Crown proved beyond reasonable doubt to convict all named photographed identified defendants under s 66(1):2

For the conviction of a person as a party to an offence under s 66(1)(b), proof was required of an action by that person that aids another to commit the offence. Such action was deliberately taken, with the intention that the conduct aided the principal offenders in his or her criminal actions, the essential aspects of which was known and proven to the assisting person. What was essential included both physical and mental aspects of that person’s conduct, that is, the actions taken and the intention with which they did. Section 66(1)(c) and (d) have the same requirements, but with reference to abetting or inciting, and counselling or procuring, rather than to aiding. A particular feature of s 66(1) is that it concerns conduct providing assistance or encouragement that was complete prior to commission of the crime for which it provided.

In the further alternative under s 66(2), if one or more defendants but not all committed the offence, Moai Crown said the other defendants formed a common intention with at least one or more other offenders singled out of this line up Court List prosecuted an unlawful purpose, and assisted each other or acted alone therein, namely to not disclose the full extent of their crimes the Native Creditors allege and the identity of the actual donor, an offence under the Electoral Act 1993, and the commission of the first mentioned offence was known to be a probable consequence of the prosecution of the common purpose.

[8] The Supreme Court in Ahsin also described what the Crown must prove under s 66(2):<sup>28</sup>

- (a) the offence to which the defendant is alleged to be a party was committed by a principal offender; and
- (b) there was a shared understanding or agreement to carry out something that was unlawful; and

- (c) the persons accused of being a party to that agreement had all agreed to help each other and participate to achieve their common unlawful goal; and
- (d) the offence was committed by the principal in the course of pursuing the common purpose; and
- (e) the defendant intended that the offence that eventuated be committed, or knew that the offence was a probable consequence of carrying out the common purpose. This requires foresight of both the physical and mental elements of the essential facts of the offence.

[9] In this context, probable consequence means a real possibility or something that could well happen.<sup>29</sup>

A three-member special court announced its verdict in the long-drawn high treason case against former military ruler Pervez Musharraf today. — AFP/File

A special court in Islamabad on Tuesday found former military ruler retired Gen Pervez Musharraf guilty of high treason and handed him a death sentence under Article 6 of the Constitution.

This is the first time in Pakistan's history that a military chief has been declared guilty of high treason and handed a death sentence. The verdict was split 2-1.

Article 6 of the Constitution says: "Any person who abrogates or subverts or suspends or hold in abeyance, or attempts or conspires to abrogate or subvert or suspend or hold in abeyance the Constitution by use of force or show force or by any other unconstitutional means shall be guilty of high treason."

The punishment for high treason is death or lifetime imprisonment, according to the High Treason (Punishment) Act, 1973.

The three-member bench of the special court — headed by Peshawar High Court Chief Justice Waqar Ahmad Seth and comprising Justice Nazar Akbar of the Sindh High Court (SHC) and Justice Shahid Karim of the LHC — announced the verdict in the long-drawn high treason case against Musharraf after hearing final arguments today. A detailed verdict will be issued in 48 hours.

THE ANSWERS HERE FOR YOU ITS ALL Constitution of the United Kingdom

The Constitution of the United Kingdom or British constitution comprises the written and unwritten arrangements that establish the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland as a political body. Unlike in most countries, no attempt has been made to codify such arrangements into a single document, thus it is known as an uncodified constitution.

This means the government may only conduct itself according to legal authority, including respect for human rights.[13] Third, at least since 1928, elections in which all capable adults participate have become a fundamental constitutional principle

Fourth, the British constitution is bound to international law, as Parliament has chosen to increase its practical power in cooperation with other countries in international organizations, such as the International Labour Organization,[15] the United Nations, the European Convention on Human Rights, the World Trade Organization, and the International Criminal Court.

NOTE THIS WORD "CONTESTED"

Parliamentary sovereignty is often seen as a central element in the British constitution, although its extent is contested.[17]

It means that an Act of Parliament is the highest form of law, but also that "Parliament cannot bind itself".[18] Historically, Parliament became sovereign through a series of power struggles between the monarch, the church, the courts, and the people.

NOTE "AND THE PEOPLE"

The Bill of Rights 1689 cemented Parliament's power over the monarch, and therefore over the church and courts. Parliament became "sovereign", and supreme. Only 18 years later however, the English Parliament abolished itself in order to create the new "Union" Parliament following on the Treaty of Union between England and Scotland, Parliamentary sovereignty "is no longer, if it ever was, absolute", and that the "rule of law enforced by the courts is the ultimate controlling factor on which our constitution is based",

and cannot be used to defend unconstitutional Acts (as determined by the courts).[24]

NOTE! COURTS ARE THE ULTIMATE CONTROLLING FACTOR ON WHICH THE "CONSTITUTION" IS BASED Andrew House-of Devine, Blair Ingram, Kate Baker, Sharleen Amai, Hone Mason, GOT THE PIRATE GOVERNMENT CRIMINAL ORGANIZATION CAUGHT RIGHT HERE

NEW ZEALAND PARLIAMENT IS LOOKING LOOSE ON SHAKY GROUND

There is not yet a consensus on the meaning of "Parliamentary sovereignty", except that its legitimacy depends on the principle of "the democratic process".[25]

Although the UK has not always clearly followed international law,[31] it has accepted as a formal duty that its sovereignty would not be used unlawfully.

NOTE "SERIOUS FRAUD OFFICE" AND ATTORNEY GENERAL RULE OF LAW
HERE IS THE ANSWER Andrew House-of Devine GOT IT TO WIN THE COURT ORDER CASE Kate Baker Sharleen Amai Hone Mason

Lord Reed said the "constitutional right of access to the courts is inherent in the rule of law".
ITS ALL WRAPPED UP HERE YOU FELLAS WATCH THE WORDS OF COURTS OVER PARLIAMENT NOW KICKS IN OVER THE POLITICIANS HAS TO GO SCOUTING FOR THE CONSTITUTION POWER OF THE 18835 KINGS FLAG JURISDICTION OF OUR BRITISH NATIVE CHIEFS COURT !!! DID YOU GET THIS BELOW = LIABLE - DEAD - LETTER - NUGATORY ??

Without access to courts, "laws are liable to become a dead letter, the work done by Parliament may be rendered nugatory, and the democratic election of Members of Parliament may become a meaningless charade."[59]
CHECKMATE - In principle every person is subject to the law, including government ministers, or corporate executives, who may be held in contempt of court for violating an order.[60]

That's Enough

In other systems the idea of a separation of powers is seen as an essential part of maintaining the rule of law. In theory, originally advocated by Baron de Montesquieu, there should be a strict separation of the executive, legislature and judiciary.[61]

The Constitutional Reform Act 2005 did, however, end the practice of the Lord Chancellor sitting as the head of the judiciary, while also being a Member of Parliament, and sitting in the cabinet. Since the Act of Settlement 1700, there has been only one instance of a judge being removed, and a suspension cannot happen without the Lord Chief Justice and the Lord Chancellor following a judge being subject to criminal proceedings.[63]

HERE IS THE CORPORATIONS IN OUR KINGS FLAG PATHWAY REMOVE THEM

There is now a duty on all ministers to "uphold the continued independence of the judiciary", including against assault by powerful corporations or the media.[64]

Although called the royal prerogative, a series of important powers that were once vested in the king or queen are now exercised by government, and the prime minister in particular. These are powers of day-to-day management, but tightly constrained to ensure that executive power cannot usurp Parliament or the courts. In the Case of Prohibitions in 1607,[175] it was held that the royal prerogative could not be used to determine court cases, and in the Case of Proclamations in 1610 it was held new prerogative powers could not be created by the executive.[176] It is also clear that no exercise of the prerogative can compromise any right contained in an Act of Parliament.

‘Reckless and irresponsible’: Govt urgently pushing through 24 bills after Queen’s death caused lost time

PM Jacinda Ardern admits there is 'confusion' over the Three Water bill and has asked for the scope to be clarified. Video / Mark Mitchell

The Government is rushing through 24 pieces of legislation, some without public submission, after an urgency motion was passed in the House.

The motion, raised by the leader of the House Chris Hipkins, substantially extended the time when the House was sitting to allow the 24 bills - all at varying stages of progress - to be debated.

Hipkins said the urgency was necessary after a week's worth of House sitting time was lost when Queen Elizabeth II died on September 9.

However, it meant four bills would move forward without going through the select committee process, which enabled the public to have their say on the proposed legislation.

The House moving with urgency had attracted strong criticism from all other parties in Parliament, who all opposed the motion in the House yesterday, but it passed as Labour held the necessary majority in the House.

The bills being progressed through all stages - which comprised of the first, second and third readings, select committee and committee of the whole House - included the Residential Tenancies (Healthy Homes Standards) Amendment Bill, which offered a 12-month extension to state landlord Kāinga Ora and private landlords to comply with the Health Homes Standards.

Also included was the Land Transport (Clean Vehicles) Amendment Bill that delayed the implementation of the Clean Car Standard, an emissions standard for imported vehicles, to give importers more time.

The two other bills, Social Security (Accommodation Supplement) Amendment Bill and Covid-19 Public Health Response (Extension of Act and Reduction of Powers) Amendment Bill, concerned accommodation supplements for spouses of people receiving long-term residential care and the reduction of the Government's Covid-19 powers such as lockdowns, respectively.

“It’s a necessary step as we want to get some bills to select committee this year,” Hipkins said of the urgency.

“Some of the bills are administrative and four bills will go straight through without going to select committee, including a minor technical bill that ensures that the housing accommodation supplement for some people is not interrupted.”

Daily sitting hours could span from 9am to 12am, including two hour-long breaks, from Wednesday and could last until Saturday.

Among the bills was the Water Services Entities Bill, which contained the controversial proposal to shift the governance and management of New Zealand’s drinking water, wastewater and stormwater from local councils to four regional entities.

The bill, often referred to as Three Waters, had received more than 88,000 public submissions through the select committee process.

It was currently going through the Committee of Whole House, when MPs considered the bill in detail and voted on proposed changes. It would go through its third reading in December.

Two of the bills set for their first reading under urgency this week had implications for the country's cost of living crisis.

The Fuel Industry Amendment Bill introduced several changes to the sector, including giving power to the Commerce Commission to improve the sector's security and affordability, boosting the country's fuel supply resilience and delaying plans that reduce emissions to ensure costs weren't passed on to consumers through higher fuel prices.

The Grocery Industry Competition Bill established a Grocery Commissioner to force supermarkets to offer fairer prices, in addition to making it easier for smaller retailers to compete in the market.

The Arms Licence Holders' Applications for New Licences Amendment Bill, introduced to keep current firearms licences valid post-expiry due to a backlog in the licencing system, had been through select committee but was set to go through second reading, committee stage and third reading this week.

Te Pāti Māori (the Māori Party) had slammed the move toward urgency with co-leader Rawiri Waititi calling it "dangerous and reckless law-making".

He was concerned it would have a detrimental impact on Māori, as the ability to debate bills and source evidence was compromised under urgency, in his view.

"As tangata whenua, we are at the mercy of these major parties" co-leader Debbie Ngarewa Packer said.

"It's being pushed through because Government hasn't done what it was meant to do - make legislation."

National leader Christopher Luxon said passing the legislation in urgency was "irresponsible" and "completely mad", particularly with Three Waters.

"The Government hasn't listened, the Prime Minister now can't explain the components that are being added in, last-minute, they should stop and they should sit down with councils and find a proper, enduring solution."

Act leader David Seymour said it showed the Government was disorganised and would lead to legislation receiving insufficient scrutiny.

Greens co-leader Marama Davidson believed the 24 bills would have taken more than one week’s worth of House time and was saddened to see the Government resort to urgent debate.

“We want robust debate and I’m not sure how 120 MPs holed up in [Parliament] for such long hours is going to give the level of debate that is also required.”

Hipkins, responding to the criticism, said the bills going through all stages this week were “largely technical in nature” and “relatively uncontentious”.

“I would be surprised if anyone was surprised,” Hipkins said, when asked if the public would be surprised by what was included in the bills progressing through all stages.

A flag raising ceremony was held this morning at the National Library of New Zealand to commemorate the signing of He Whakaputanga o Te Rangitiranga o Nu Tirenī - The Declaration of Independence of the United Tribes of New Zealand.

If you walk along Aitken Street today, you'll see Te Kara, the flag of the United Tribes of New Zealand fly outside the National Library building.

BRITISH NEW ZEALAND 1835 KING WILLIAM IV FLAG SOVEREIGN JURISDICTION CONSTITUTION

- 1. We, the hereditary chiefs and heads of the tribes of the Northern parts of New Zealand, being assembled at Waitangi, in the Bay of Islands, on this 28th day of October, 1835, declare the Independence of our country, which is hereby constituted and declared to be an Independent State, under the designation of The United Tribes of New Zealand.
2. All sovereign power and authority within the territories of the United Tribes of New Zealand is hereby declared to reside entirely and exclusively in the hereditary chiefs and heads of tribes in their collective capacity, who also declare that they will not permit any legislative authority separate from themselves in their collective capacity to exist, nor any function of government to be exercised within the said territories, unless by persons appointed by them, and acting under the authority of laws regularly enacted by them in Congress assembled.
3. The hereditary chiefs and heads of tribes agree to meet in Congress at Waitangi in the autumn of each year, for the purpose of framing laws for the dispensation of justice, the preservation of peace and good order, and the regulation of trade; and they cordially invite the Southern tribes to lay aside their private animosities and to consult the safety and welfare of our common country, by joining the Confederation of the United Tribes.
4. They also agree to send a copy of this Declaration to His Majesty, the King of England, to thank him for his acknowledgement of their flag; and in return for the friendship and protection they have shown, and are prepared to show, to such of his subjects as have settled in their country, or resorted to its shores for the purposes of trade, they entreat that he will continue to be the parent of their infant State, and that he will become its Protector from all attempts upon its independence.

Agreed to unanimously on this 28 day of October, 1835, in the presence of His Britannic Majesty's Resident.

(Here follows the signatures or marks of thirty-five Hereditary chiefs or Heads of tribes, which form a fair representation of the tribes of New Zealand from the North Cape to the latitude of the River Thames.)
